Making a Difference in Hawaii

I bring honesty and integrity back into politics as a stateswoman, not a politician. I have a burning desire to represent the people of Hawaii in our crucial issues of Education, Environment and Economy. I refuse campaign contributions, owe no "favors," and focus on issues rather than name recognition or sign waiving. When you see others with posters, do you know where they stand on the issues?

We need a Lottery in Hawaii for which fifty percent of all revenue is paid directly to scholarships for trades and higher educations. It will provide skilled professionals we need for our future and will cycle back locally into institution spending and new teachers' jobs. Twenty-five percent of the lottery, matched with Federal funds, can be used as seed money to startup small "mom and pop" businesses. The remaining funds pour back into our schools.

Statewide cleanup is needed to eliminate environment problems. Our islands and our cities need to be at our peek for all of us to enjoy.

We must reduce Federal Income Tax and be good stewards in our government spending so you can keep and spend more of your own, hard-earned money.

I support a strong military, homeland security and fortifying our local law enforcement. We need to provide for the common defense.

Voting for me, the people of Hawaii will be represented and heard. I pledge to keep the people of Hawaii number one on the list in the U.S. House of Representatives.
